

SPORTS

Baseball.

Standing of the Clubs
(The averages do not include today's results.)

National League.	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
New York	21	11	.636
Cincinnati	25	15	.625
Pittsburgh	21	14	.600
Philadelphia	15	18	.450
St. Louis	19	23	.450
Chicago	18	22	.450
Brooklyn	14	18	.428
Boston	19	22	.312

American League.	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Philadelphia	21	13	.618
Washington	23	15	.603
Detroit	23	17	.575
St. Louis	18	19	.488
Boston	17	19	.472
New York	16	19	.457
Chicago	14	22	.450
Pittsburgh	16	19	.457
Indianapolis	14	18	.428

Federal League.	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Baltimore	21	11	.656
Buffalo	23	15	.571
Chicago	18	18	.500
St. Louis	15	20	.474
Kansas City	18	20	.444
Brooklyn	14	16	.467
Pittsburgh	16	19	.457
Indianapolis	14	18	.428

Western League.	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Sioux City	26	14	.656
Denver	23	15	.625
St. Joseph	22	16	.579
Des Moines	20	17	.541
Lincoln	20	21	.488
Omaha	17	21	.444
Wichita	16	25	.396
Topeka	13	28	.311

GAMES TOMORROW

American League.
Chicago at Detroit.
St. Louis at Cleveland.
Philadelphia at Boston.
Washington at New York.

National League.
Boston at Brooklyn.
New York at Philadelphia.
Cincinnati at St. Louis.

Federal League.
Chicago at Kansas City.
Indianapolis at St. Louis.
Baltimore at Pittsburgh.
Baltimore at Brooklyn.

The HERALD Want Ads get the best results.

STILL LACK DATA FOR HANDICAPS OF GOLFERS

New Crater Opens in Volcano Believed Extinct and Ashes Cover Landscape for Distance of Three Miles.

[By Leased Wire to Evening Herald.] Redding, Cal., June 1.—Mount Lassen, a peak in the Sierra Nevada between Plumas and Shasta counties, California, is in eruption. A new crater has opened in the side of the mountain with lateral fissures running in all directions. Ashes cover the ground to a distance of three miles, and large boulders have been ejected from the crater. A cloud of smoke and steam hangs over the mountain.

Word of the eruption was conveyed to this city today in an official report from forest rangers. No great damage is probable as the country in the vicinity of the ancient volcano is sparsely settled.

Mount Lassen is 10,437 feet high and of volcanic origin. There is evidence that it was in eruption at a comparatively recent period, although antedating the entry of the white man into California.

Report of Eruption Confirmed.

San Francisco, June 1.—Official verification of the report of a volcanic eruption on Mount Lassen, in northern California, was received here today at headquarters of the United States Forest Service in a telegram from W. G. Rushing, forest supervisor of the district in which Mount Lassen is located. His telegram follows:

"Volcanic eruption on Mount Lassen occurred 5 p.m. May 30. Crater 25 by 40 feet with lateral fissures was found. Mud, boulders and sand one to two feet deep over an area 200 feet in diameter."

"A heavy volume of steam is still rising. The crater is about four miles from the forest fire lookout house near the old crater. No damage has been done yet."

"You have been taught in school that every result has to have an adequate cause. When you see a great life, you must look to find its secret; the secret of this great man's life is given in the text, 'He endured as seeing him who is invisible.'

"Youth is the time of visions. Longfellow said, 'The thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts.' Tennyson said, 'And I dipped into the future as far as human eye could see; I saw the vision of the world and all the wonders that should be.' Youth is the time to lay your life plans and build air castles. It is a fact that the great epochs of history are largely the biographies of young men. Alexander the Great had destroyed Thebes when he was 21, he had conquered Babylon at the age of 25 and he was master of the world at the age of 35. Robert Burns was writing verse at the age of 16 and at the age of 26 he passed to his reward, one of the sweetest poets and singers that this world has ever produced."

"Youth is the time of visions. Longfellow said, 'The thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts.' Tennyson said, 'And I dipped into the future as far as human eye could see; I saw the vision of the world and all the wonders that should be.' Youth is the time to lay your life plans and build air castles. It is a fact that the great epochs of history are largely the biographies of young men. Alexander the Great had destroyed Thebes when he was 21, he had conquered Babylon at the age of 25 and he was master of the world at the age of 35. Robert Burns was writing verse at the age of 16 and at the age of 26 he passed to his reward, one of the sweetest poets and singers that this world has ever produced."

"Whether they think the Tigers would draw poorly in New York or whether they fear that only a small crowd would be on hand in Detroit, they do not say, but the Giants are wavering for wear a lot of money will escape them if the Jennings crew cops."

Writers all over the circuit are shy of making predictions of a fourth pennant for New York. A team that counts world series money in May looks overconfident to them, and overconfidence is the cause of the long record of failure to win more than three pennants in row.

Jimmy Callahan of the White Sox is slipping away from the team every few days, according to reports from Chicago. It is thought that Jimmy is hunting ivory in college circles.

Tom Clark has reached the top of his form and is catching first-base ball day after day for the Reds. His throwing has been excellent lately and is constantly improving.

We are getting to that point where we would refuse to be surprised if some octogenarian Englishman rose up some evening and knocked out Jack Johnson in the fifty-third round. Apparently he doesn't seem to figure that a guy has rounded out into a full-blown, sprightly athlete over there until he has reached the age of the Tired Business Man in this country.

The upstart who trimmed Jerry Travers in the first round of the golf tournament had just turned 61 years, but even so that he thinks he would have shown more steadiness in spite of his youth if he had not had a touch of lumbago.

Two chipper goolies named Dixon and Super-Barrett were within a stroke of winning the Davis cup from McLaughlin and Hatchett in the doubles last year. Both of them are past 40, and have hopes of developing into wonderful players in time. How do they do it?

The Federal league just now is giving a lot of attention to the New York city situation, with a view to the possible invasion of Manhattan next year.

Just what new towns the Feds are planning to invade in 1915 is not definitely certain. However, in addition to New York city, the Feds are casting eyes at Detroit, Cleveland, Cincinnati and Washington.

O. B. CLARK, Secretary.

We have a complete line of Wall Paper and Paints. Can do your work on a minute's notice.

C. E. QUIER
225 S. 2nd St. PHONE 747.

An Excellent Cough Medicine.

The soothing and healing properties of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy make it especially valuable for coughs and colds. It is pleasant and safe to take and contains no narcotic. For sale by all druggists.

GRADUATING CLASS OF HIGH SCHOOL AT SERVICE

Rev. Samuel E. Allison Delivers Baccalaureate Address. Three Other Clergymen Take Part in Program.

The baccalaureate service of the high school was held yesterday afternoon at the Central Avenue Methodist church, and three other clergymen took part in the service.

There was a large congregation. The thirty-three graduates marched down the aisle in a body, and took seats together at the front of the auditorium. Fathers, mothers, sisters and brothers and friends of the graduates in large numbers filled the rest of the church. School Superintendent John Milne, President M. E. Hickey and Vice President Mrs. A. B. McMillen of the board of education, were among those present.

The invocation was offered by Rev. Edward P. Schueler, pastor of the Lutheran church; Rev. Hugh A. Cooper, pastor of the First Presbyterian church read the sermon lesson; and Rev. Herman P. Williams, pastor of the Gold and Broadway church delivered the benediction. There was beautiful musical program, a feature of which was a solo by Miss Mary Anderson.

ME. ALLISON'S SERMON.

Speaking from the text, Hebrews 11:21, "He endured as seeing Him who is invisible," Mr. Allison said in part:

"These words were spoken of Moses the law giver. I do not suppose that any nation, tribe or clan has produced a greater man than He. He stands out among his fellows like some great sunken mountain peak lifting its head above the surrounding hills and valleys.

"You have been taught in school that every result has to have an adequate cause. When you see a great life, you must look to find its secret; the secret of this great man's life is given in the text, 'He endured as seeing him who is invisible.'

"Youth is the time of visions. Longfellow said, 'The thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts.' Tennyson said, 'And I dipped into the future as far as human eye could see; I saw the vision of the world and all the wonders that should be.' Youth is the time to lay your life plans and build air castles. It is a fact that the great epochs of history are largely the biographies of young men. Alexander the Great had destroyed Thebes when he was 21, he had conquered Babylon at the age of 25 and he was master of the world at the age of 35. Robert Burns was writing verse at the age of 16 and at the age of 26 he passed to his reward, one of the sweetest poets and singers that this world has ever produced."

"In the next place I call your attention to the vision of love. In this time when we have commercialized and materialized everything, and our cheap literature abounds at such a time as unshod love, it is very important that you keep this vision clear. It is said that the world loves a lover and why not? Our Lord and Master uttered a great philosophical statement when he said, 'With what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again.' If you would have the world love you, you must love it, for it believes in the law of reciprocity and it will give back to you what you give it.

"In the next place I call your attention to the vision of love. In this time when we have commercialized and materialized everything, and our cheap literature abounds at such a time as unshod love, it is very important that you keep this vision clear. It is said that the world loves a lover and why not? Our Lord and Master uttered a great philosophical statement when he said, 'With what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again.'

"If you would have the world love you, you must love it, for it believes in the law of reciprocity and it will give back to you what you give it.

I would like to call your attention to the vision of faith, which is the vision of the soul. There are two directions I would suggest that you give this vision. In the first place have faith in your fellows. When you look along the shores of life and see the derelicts, it will have the tendency to discourage this part of the vision, but when you turn your attention to such men as William E. Gladstone, John Calvin, John Knox, George Washington and others you will have much to encourage your faith.

Shakespeare in describing a man said: "In form how like an angel, in comprehension how like a god!" You remember Jean Valjean, the escaped convict, by the kind treatment of the old bishop was transformed into that beautiful character, Father Madeleine. So I would ask of you, that you live in your house by the side of the road and be a friend to man.

I would suggest that you direct your faith to God, whom the heavens cannot contain, who inhabits the eternities. There are those who will tell you, "that the Great Companion is dead." If He still lives He has made this world and you, and placed you under an inexorable physical law and that he has retired and He does not deign to hear the prayer of His children. Take this as the simple philosophy of your lives. I came from God, He made me. He has placed me in this world for a purpose, and when He has fulfilled that purpose with me He will take me back to himself.

Moses the servant of God, coming to a ripe old age with his eyes not dimmed nor his physical strength abated, with the vision of faith as clear as the shining of the noonday sun. He walked up on Mount Nebo's heights and turned his eyes to the Land of Promise to which his feet had been treading for forty long years, and there in the silent fastness of the mountain, "the angels of God up-

Camel

Cigarettes

20 for 10 cents

Premiums Are Not Needed to Sell Camels

First, there never was a cigarette, at any price, made of such a delightful blending of Turkish and domestic tobaccos; second, you can't make a Camel Cigarette bite your tongue or parch your throat or leave that cigarette taste common to other cigarettes!

Fact is, you haven't got money enough to buy a clever cigarette! That's a strong statement, but we'll back it up if you'll just try package and find out something about how good a cigarette can be!

Don't look for premiums or coupons. Camel Cigarettes are not that kind of a smoke! The cost of the tobaccos prohibits the use of "inducements."

If your dealer can't supply you, send 10¢ for 1 package or $1.00 for a carton of 10 packages (200 cigarettes), postage prepaid. After smoking 1 package, if you don't find CAMELS as represented, return the other 9 packages and we will refund your money.

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO CO., Winston-Salem, N. C.

turns the sod and laid the dead man

So, my young friends, you have been preparing yourselves for the great tasks of life. There has been placed in your hands the hammer and the chisel, and out there is the cold piece of marble and you are to carve the future of your life. If you see nothing but the cold piece of marble, but if, like Michael Angelo, you see the shining of the angel face and if like Moses you see him who is to be, then you will never know the composure, and the most mortal tasks of life will be easily accomplished and you will be transformed into an artist. So in the words of William Cullen Bryant let me say:

"so live that when thy summons come To join the innumerable caravan Which moves to that mysterious realm, Where each shall take his place in the silent halls of death, Do not as the untry slave scourged to his dungeon; But sustained and soothed by unfaltering trust, approach thy grave, Like one who wraps the shrouds of his couch about him, And lies down to pleasant dreams—"

COURT CALLED ON TO DEFINE A GENTLEMAN

Inquiry at Liverpool Comes on for Determination in Interpretation of the Workingmen's Insurance Act.

Liverpool, Eng., June 1.—An inquiry is being conducted here to determine the definition of a gentleman as contemplated by the workingmen's insurance act.

According to the reading of the act, anyone who earns more than £300 yearly and does no manual labor is a gentleman. This definition, simple enough on its face, has caused infinite dispute in shipping circles, and the Liverpool Steamship Owners' association are trying to solve the question in the present inquiry, but it is likely that whatever the decision, an appeal will be carried to the chancellor